UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA (PA) PENN SUMMER GLOBAL INSTITUTE

PENN SUMMER

Penn Summer Global Institute (PSGI) is a comprehensive academic experience for top undergraduates from around the world with high English proficiency. As a pre-arranged package, undergraduates spend 6 weeks as visiting students, and experience everything Penn has to offer: earning Ivy League credits alongside other Penn students, living and dining on campus, and socializing with other Penn students from the U.S. and abroad. The PSGI experience allows students to choose packaged courses that meet their academic path. Along with classes, students will benefit from Penn's range of exceptional resources, including academic advising, and get exposure to the cultural and social features of living on campus in Philadelphia. And while visiting, students can take advantage of Philadelphia's close proximity to other major cities on the east coast.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY (DC) SPECIALIZED SUMMER PROGRAMS

THE GEORGE
WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

WASHINGTON, DC

This July, GW will offer two specialized Washington in the World programs for undergraduate students; one focused on issues of gender and the status of women around the world, the other on U.S. politics in a global environment. Students enroll in two courses for each program, gaining a foundation in the chosen subject's theory, while also applying their knowledge to real world issues. Coursework incorporates site visits around Washington, D.C. to relevant institutions in politics and advocacy.

Washington in the World programs are only two of the opportunities available to international students at The George Washington University this summer. With over 650 summer courses to choose from, including English for Academic Purposes classes, international students have a range of choices for academics, while also experiencing all that summer in Washington, D.C. has to offer. Applications for all programs are available online: <http://summer.gwu.edu/apply>. Apply today!
