THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO IN-STATE TUITION SCHOLARSHIPS

Founded in 1889 as New Mexico's flagship institution, the University sits in the heart of Albuquerque, a metropolitan area of more than 900,000 people. From the magnificent mesas to the west, past the banks of the historic Rio Grande to the Sandia Mountains to the east, Albuquerque is a blend of culture and cuisine, styles and stories, people, pursuits and panoramas.

The University of New Mexico offers the Amigo Scholarship to first-time international graduate students which allows them to pay in-state tuition rates and receive a $200 stipend per academic year. The Amigo Scholarship is a tuition-specific award and does not convert to a cash award if the recipient's tuition is covered by other means, such as an assistantship or scholarship.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS CELEBRATE FOURTH OF JULY

For many students, the Fourth of July is a holiday they have celebrated for years, but for international students, such as Zadrán, the experience is still fairly new.

When Zuleikha Zadrán came to the U.S. at the age of 13, it was the war in Afghanistan that pushed her family to leave. But now, as an American citizen and recent Michigan State University graduate, she feels love for both countries.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA PROVIDES AID TO REFUGEES

Largely impacted by its vibrant international community, the University of Virginia (UVA) has taken many steps to continue its good work in the world. Charlottesville is home to the International Rescue Committee, a non-profit organization that provides aid to refugees who have recently fled warzones, famine, or political strife to start new lives in the United States.

UVA students are both eager to educate themselves about current humanitarian crises as well as extend a helping hand. As a result, Madison House, UVA's student volunteer "hub," now runs a unique, year-long program called "Bridging the Gap." Students apply to be both a friend and mentor to child refugees from countries such as Sierra Leone, Iraq, and Togo. They help with homework, kick soccer balls around, and visit museums on weekends.

NORTHWESTERN MICHIGAN COLLEGE ENGINEERING CLUB COMPLETES BEST-EVER BAJA FINISH

Measured by odometer, the NMC Engineering Club's road to the annual SAE Baja endurance race and its best finish ever clocked in at just under 1,000 miles.

But measured by other yardsticks – including the personal growth and maturity of the students, the slope of their learning curve and the collaboration of NMC faculty – the April trip to Auburn University was an odyssey.

Sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers, the Baja race has been a tradition of the Engineering Club and adviser Jim Coughlin for several years. Teams design, build and race cars over a tough dirt course.

“You start with nothing,” said club member Doug Grunder.

In years past, the team spent more time building the car than designing it. This year, design got equal attention. The team felt they had built their best car ever.
